What We Do

COMMERCIAL WORK FOR CORPORATIONS:

Whether you are a start-up or an established business, we will work proactively with you to help you put appropriate, best-practice, commercial agreements in place to be compliant with our many laws, which cater for engagement with your shareholders, employees and suppliers.

LEGAL WORK FOR OWNERS AND INDIVIDUALS:

Since 1974, we have handled a myriad of legal matters including conveyancing, insolvency, rehabilitation, litigation in all courts, family law, labour law, wills, trusts and winding up of deceased estates.

WHAT MAKES US DIFFERENT:

Except in matters involving litigation, we provide fixed-fee legal services based on the value of the work performed rather than the number of hours worked. We provide a retainer option to several of our clients, tailored to their specific business requirements. After our first obligation-free consultation with you, and conducting a needs analysis, we can tailor a specific package to meet your business requirements.

WHAT OTHERS SAY:

"Over my 45-year career in corporate and investment banking, I have dealt with most of the major law firms in Johannesburg. My dilemma was whether to use a large law firm or a smaller law firm that would provide a more personal working relationship at a more reasonable cost. I Googled Bregman Moodley Attorneys. We were not disappointed. Bregman Moodley's depth of experience, energy, and network, proved invaluable. We were given feedback every step of the way. Bigger is not necessarily better" – Eric and Mandy.

Experience, Compassion, and a Holistic Approach to Law

Meet Roy Bregman, a driving force behind Bregman Moodley Attorneys. With an unwavering commitment to a holistic and friendly approach to the practice of law, Roy brings a wealth of knowledge and expertise honed over 49 years of dedicated service. Since 1974, he has been a trusted name in the legal industry, specializing in marriage contracts, wills and winding up of deceased estates, and setting a standard that truly sets him apart.

Compassion and Understanding: he understands the emotional journey that comes with estate winding up, and Roy is well-versed in the challenges that you may face. More than just a legal advisor, he's a supportive and empathetic companion on this daunting path, making your experience a little easier and more humane.

Efficiency and Effectiveness: Roy's decades of experience have allowed him to master the art of streamlining the estate winding process. He can efficiently oversee all legal and administrative aspects, ensuring that your loved one's estate is settled effectively and by the law. This leaves you with more time to focus on your emotional well-being and that of your family.

Personalized Guidance: No two cases are alike, and Roy provides personalised guidance tailored to your specific situation. From filing the necessary documents to navigating the intricacies of the law, he's here to ensure that your unique needs are met and that your loved one's legacy is handled with the utmost care and respect.

In addition to his extensive experience, Roy is also an accredited divorce mediator, offering further support in resolving family disputes amicably. His areas of specialisation include:

LinkedIn

Meet Sasha Kadish and discover her passion for family law and her dedication to a win-win approach.

Sasha leads the Family Law department at Bregman Moodley Attorneys. As a proud member of the Gauteng Family Law Forum, she wholeheartedly embraces its principles, striving for constructive resolutions and a harmonious outcome in family law matters. Sasha firmly believes in ensuring that everyone involved leaves her office with a brighter outlook than when they first walked in, striving for a win-win solution.

Sasha's journey in law began when she graduated with distinction from the University of the Witwatersrand in 2016, holding a BA LLB degree. Her dual major in English and Psychology adds a unique empathetic dimension to her practice. Admitted as an attorney in the High Court of South Africa in July 2019, she now spearheads our Family Law department with unmatched dedication.

In the realm of family law, Sasha recognizes the delicate nature of matters, particularly when minor children are involved. She understands that it's unlike any other legal discipline, where there are no clear winners or losers. Sasha's mission is to safeguard the sanctity of the family unit and amicably resolve disputes, all while prioritizing the best interests of the minor children. Every case is unique, and there's no one-size-fits-all solution in family law, especially concerning divorce matters. Sasha's approach is centred on educating and guiding each client toward an optimal divorce outcome, fostering amicable and even friendly relationships with their soon-to-be ex-spouse.

Sasha is a skilled drafter of parenting plans and settlement agreements. Her knack for tailoring case-specific wording and clauses to align with the family's lifestyle and unique circumstances is truly exceptional.

In addition to divorce matters, Sasha's expertise extends to:

- Maintenance issues
- Applications for contact and parental responsibilities and rights
- Drafting parenting plans
- Variation of settlement agreements
- Children's court matters
